Editor and reviewer comments:
Reviewer:

- 1. Clarify the Research Problem: The introduction should explicitly outline the specific problem being addressed. Clarify how the declining understanding of religion among youth manifests and its implications for education, particularly in Fiqh. This will help establish the urgency and relevance of your research.
- 2. Enhance the Literature Review: The literature review is currently lacking depth. Include key studies that explore the relationship between adolescent psychology and educational motivation, especially in religious contexts. Discuss how your research builds upon or diverges from existing findings.
- 3. Methodology Detail: The methodology section needs more specifics. Describe the participant selection process in detail, including the criteria for choosing interviewees and the number of participants involved. This information is crucial for assessing the study's validity.
- 4. Data Collection Methods: While you mention using interviews, it would be beneficial to elaborate on the interview structure. What types of questions were asked? How were they designed to elicit information about motivation and psychology? Providing a sample of these questions would strengthen the methodology section.
- 5. Analysis Techniques Explanation: Expand on how deductive and inductive analysis were applied to the data. What specific themes or patterns emerged from the data analysis? Providing examples of these themes would enhance the reader's understanding of your findings.
- 6. Findings Presentation: The presentation of findings is currently vague. Include more specific results and direct quotes from participants that illustrate their experiences and motivations regarding Fiqh learning. This would enrich the qualitative findings and provide clearer insights.
- 7. Implications for Educators: Discuss practical implications of your findings more thoroughly. What specific strategies can educators use to apply adolescent psychology principles in Fiqh education? Providing actionable recommendations will greatly enhance the article's contribution to the field.
- 8. Limitations and Future Research: Address the limitations of your study. What constraints did you face in data collection or analysis? Discussing these limitations, along with suggestions for future research, will provide a more balanced perspective on your findings.

- 9. Improve Abstract Quality: The abstract should succinctly summarize the research problem, methodology, key findings, and implications. Revise it to include specific outcomes and clearer connections between adolescent psychology and learning motivation.
- 10. Language and Proofreading: There are several grammatical and typographical errors throughout the manuscript. A thorough proofreading is essential to enhance readability and professionalism. For instance, correct phrases like "fiqhscience" to "Fiqh science" for clarity.

We hope you can make improvements as soon as possible and send the revised article again via this email.
