Title Skripsi : Promoting Vocabulary Mastery With Word Trip Application For Students at the Eleventh Grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu

Mastery of English vocabulary in eleventh grade was still very low. Many students found it difficult to learn and increase their vocabulary. They believed that learning vocabulary mastery takes times because not only they have to master the meaning but also they have to identify the word classes and even the ways the words to be used in sentences. Therefore there should be of various teaching methods to create a fun learning atmosphere. And to overcome this problem, the Word Trip Application is used.

The purpose of this research is to find out whether the Word Trip Application effective to promote vocabulary mastery for students at the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu.

In this research, researcher used a quasi-experimental design with a quantitative approach. This research used data collection techniques through pre- and post-tests and treatment in the experimental class. The data analysis techniques used the descriptive statistics, normality test, homogeneity test, and testing hypothesis. The population in this research was 232 class XI students consisting of seven classes. In this research the only took two classes, namely the control and experimental classes. The sample was selected through purposive sampling.

Based on the research finding, it showed that the Word Trip Application was effective to improve vocabulary mastery of the eleventh grade students. It was proved by the mean score of students achievement before and after giving the treatment was from 43.70 which the mean score of pre-test become 68.98 which the mean score of post-test and also proven by the value of the t-test 10.365 was higher than t-table value 2.03693.

Therefore, it can be concluded that used of Word Trip Application was effective to promote vocabulary mastery for students of the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu.

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

For a very long period of time, English has become an international language that people use to communicate and exchange ideas in the international stage. Besides, English has been long used as a means of communication between the nations in the world. It has also been used in education and many scientific activities. It is a fact that English proficiency helps people drive knowledge transfer and development. Being able to speak English is one of the drivers to advance in certain fields, for example, computers, business, tourism, educational technology, and many more. English is also very important for spreading news in different countries around the world.

In Indonesia, English has long been taught as the first foreign language and as a compulsory subject from high school to college. According to Lauder, the status of English as a foreign language in Indonesia was officially declared in 1955<sup>1</sup>. This position remains the same today, as English was the first foreign language taught in schools, as commented by Komaria<sup>2</sup>. Chapter IX, Section 39 Verse 3, the Law (1989) states that English is specified as a compulsory subject, part of the Basic Curriculum<sup>3</sup>. This is supported by Government Regulation No 28, 1990 states that English is to be taught from the first year of Junior High School but may be taught as early as primary four at the school's discretion.<sup>4</sup> In addition, Section 42 and Section 2 of Chapter XI of the Education Act 1989 also allow the use of English as a language of instruction when necessary for the development of specialized subjects or professional skills<sup>5</sup>. It also is a very useful language for the current generation. In addition to being a tool for international communication, it is also for future career interests of students and there are many more benefits for learning English.

Due to the importance of English, the education government has made English one of the subjects that must be taught from the fourth grade of elementary school to university<sup>6</sup>. This is stated in the national curriculum. In the K13 curriculum, the time allotment for the learning and teaching English is four meetings where each consists 45 minutes where four skills of English are taught integratively<sup>7</sup>. It means that there are four skills that students have to master, namely: listening, reading, speaking and writing. Students can be said to be able to speak fluently in English means that they have to be supported by good vocabulary mastery. Having good vocabulary mastery will allow students to understand what is heard, read, spoken and written in English. As this is the case, vocabulary is deemed to be one of the most important components for learning English. Vocabulary mastery affects students' ability to develop sentences, including in oral and written communication. Having a good vocabulary range will allow students to speak and write easily and quickly. In other words, a good vocabulary mastery is the ability of students to use words correctly and effectively. The more vocabulary students have, the greater chances to know, understand and use the language.

For many cases, increasing vocabulary is difficult. Words are difficult for students to understand, such as distinguishing word forms, applying words in sentences to understand its grammatical forms like noun, verb, adverb, conjunction and others. Therefore, it is important for students to learn vocabulary and its forms from which they can understand the differences.

Based on the pre-observation taken on March, 9th 2023 at SMA Negeri 4 Palu, it was revealed that many students found it difficult to learn and increase their vocabulary. They believed that learning vocabulary mastery takes times because not only they have to master the meaning but also they have to identify the word classes and even the ways the words to be used in sentences. Moreover, students found it hard to determine which strategies to use for learning vocabulary effectively.

In learning vocabulary, there is an encouragement from the English teacher at school by using various teaching methods. One way that can be used to create a fun learning atmosphere is by using learning technology. In this case, the word trip application is used because this learning platform is easy to use and free access. Moreover, this learning platform allows the students to use the clues (bonuses) to smart guess the words based on the provided letters. Apart from these, this vocabulary learning platform is full of fun as the players (students) are allowed to compete with other users acrossed the globe. In addition, this application also allows students (players) to practice the pronunciation of the words both offline and online.

Based on the problem, the researcher is interested in conducting research entitled: "Promoting vocabulary mastery with Word Trip application for students at the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu".

B. Research Question

Based on the problem the research question is formulated as follows: "Is the Word Trip Application effective to promote vocabulary mastery for students at the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu?"

C. Objective and Significant of the Research

1. Objective of the Research

The main objective of the research is to find out whether the Word Trip Application effective to promote vocabulary mastery for students at the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu.

2. Significant of the Research

The results of this research are expected to be useful for teachers, students and further researchers to apply the Word Trip Application in the learning process to build a better atmosphere and student interest in learning activities in the classroom.

a. For Students

This research uses the Word Trip Application which will help students in improving their mastery of English vocabulary. b

b. For English Teachers

This research is expected to provide insight into the implementation of learning using the Word Trip Application as an alternative media for teaching English.

c. For Future Research

LITERATURE REVIEW

A. Previous Research

Previous research is research that is used to find comparisons, then find new inspiration for further research. Research that has been done includes the following:

The first research was conducted by Fitroh Ida Nuriyah, Imam Suryanto and Chamdani with the title "Metode Permainan Crossword Puzzle Dalam Peningkatan Penguasaan Kosakata Bahasa Inggris Kelas IV SD". Based on the result of this research, that the crossword puzzle game method for grade IV students SDN Pakuran, in providing material Lesson or language learning English can improve achievement, cheerfulness, honesty, cooperation, understanding the material and mastery of vocabulary<sup>8</sup>.

Another research conducted by Nuryati with the title "The Use of Word Cross Game to Improve Students' Vocabulary in SMAN Muhammadiyah 4 Makassar". Based on the results of data analysis and previous findings in that research, the researcher can conclude that: Use the Cross Word game to increase the student's vocabulary by showing the growth proportions of each type of word 29.63% increase in the number of nouns and vocabulary, from 212 to 229. The number of verbs increased from 140 to 244 and the proportion is 61.84% of the verbs. The number of adjectives increased from 132 to 226, and the proportion of adjectives was 59%. The number of adverbs increased from 78 to 129, and the share of adverbs was 41.75%<sup>9</sup>.

Next research conducted by Suci Kurnia Sari, with the title "The effectiveness of Crossword Puzzle Game Towards Student's Vocabulary Mastery". Based on the results of this research, it can be concluded that crossword puzzles are effective for vocabulary acquisition of the second grade students of Puspita Bangsa Junior High School Ciputat. The application of crossword puzzles in the experimental class showed a positive reaction with an increase in the average score and the number of students who scored higher. The fact shows that more than half of the students in the class achieved better results after the treatment<sup>10</sup>.

Based on the previous research presented, it was identified that were differences in terms of research settings, research methodologies, and the research findings. However, the most important of the researches to deal with is the use of technique's strategies in teaching vocabulary. The previous researches focus on puzzles (Cross Word Puzzle). This thesis research was used a type of digital word game in which students are offered a travel trip from one country to other digitally.

B. Theoretical Review

1. Definition of Vocabulary

Vocabulary is an important component of language. It can also be interpreted as a collection of words that are owned by the language and give meaning when we use them. Without vocabulary mastery, it was definitely be difficult to speak, write, read, and listen. Mastery of vocabulary was help people to acquire, understand, and also improve the process of translating knowledge into a better life. Good mastery of vocabulary was allow a person to progress to be in a position of success in understanding something. Talking about vocabulary, there are many definitions of vocabulary according to experts, namely:

- a) Soedjito argues that vocabulary is defined as; 1) All words in a language; 2) words owned by a speaker or writer; 3) Words used in the field of science; 4) A list of words compiled as a dictionary and a brief and practical explanation<sup>11</sup>.
- b) Walter stated, vocabulary is all the words in a particular language or subject<sup>12</sup>.
- c) According to Jack C. Richard and Willy A Renandya, vocabulary is an important part of language skills and forms the basis of how well students speak, listen, read and write<sup>13</sup>.

<sup>13</sup>Jack C. Richard and Willy A Renandya, "Methodology in Language Teaching, an Anthology of Current Practice" (New York: Cambridge University Press 2020), 255

- d) Vocabulary is defined as a list of words and often phrases, usually listed in alphabetical order and defined or translated, vocabulary or glossary<sup>14</sup>.

From the definition of the experts above, it can be concluded that vocabulary is a collection of words in a language that has a certain meaning that can be used in communicating with others.

2. Types of Vocabulary

There are eight types of vocabulary according Thornbury that should know namely:<sup>15</sup>

1) Noun

A noun is a word that describes a person, place, thing or idea. We can divide or group nouns into categories: (A special word means a specific person, place or thing. The first letter must be capitalized. Example: Rika). (General nouns indicate a general group, place, person or thing.

Example:

House), (Concrete nouns indicate objects perceived by the senses of sight, hearing, taste, smell and touch. Example: Hamburger), (Abstract nouns refer to objects that cannot be perceived by the senses. Example: love) and (usually, nouns are indicated as a unit. Example: family)<sup>16</sup>.

2) Verb

Verb is the most complex part of speech and shows action or a state of being<sup>17</sup>. A verb is a word that describes the action, inaction, condition or experience of something. There are 3 types of verb forms, namely:

a. Dynamic and stative verbs

Dynamic verbs are verbs that show activity or action. for example: "Run, walk, sing, read, eat". whereas a stative verb is a verb that expresses a condition. for example: "Love, hate, like, dislike".

b. Regular and irregular verbs

Regular verbs are verbs that have a regular form change by adding -ed. we can say that regular is the past tense. for example: "cook (Verb 1) becomes cooked (Verb 2/past tense)". while irregular verb is a verb that has an irregular form change. irregular verb can also be said to be a past participle. for example: "Drive (Verb 1), Drove (Verb 2) becomes Driven (Verb 3/past participle)".

c. Transitive and Intransitive verb

Transitive is a verb that requires an object. For example "I clean my own room every morning". the word "morning" here is the object. While intransitive verb is a verb that does not require an object. for example: "Fatimah screamed when her mother surprise her".

3) Adverb

There are various definitions of adverbs given by experts. one of them Marcella Frank says that adverbs are words that explain or modify verbs, adjectives and other adverbs.<sup>18</sup> there are seven adverbs that we should know such as: 1) adverb of time for example the word "now". 2) adverb of place, for example "around". 3) adverb of manner, for example "badly". 4) adverb of degree, for example "really". 4) adverb of modality, for example "maybe". 5) adverb of frequency, for example "Every day". 6) adverb of focus, for example "even". 7) adverb of purpose, for example "because".

Adverbs are also larger groups of words called phrases and clauses. These expanded adverbs can answer the question above and also answer the question "why?". or "for what purpose?"<sup>19</sup>.

For example :

- She walked to improve her health. (infinitive phrase used as adverb)
- She walked because she enjoyed the exercise. (adverb clause)

4) Adjective

Marcella Frank explain that adjectives are modifiers that have comparative grammatical properties<sup>20</sup>. Meanwhile according to Philip

<sup>18</sup>Ibid

Gucker, adjectives are used to modify nouns or pronouns, that is, to describe or illustrate the noun or pronoun.<sup>21</sup> From the above statements, it can be concluded that adjectives are words that explain nouns or pronouns that have comparative properties and explain or determine characteristics. Example: "beautiful, amazing, black and others".

5) Pronoun

Personal pronouns refer to people, places, things and ideas. Example: I, me, you, your, they, us, and it all are personal pronouns), (reflexive pronouns are formed by adding "-self or -selves" to specific personal pronouns. They "reflect" back to the person or the thing mentioned in the sentence. Examples: myself, himself, himself, you, you, and themselves are reflexive pronouns. There are no words like themselves), (Positive pronouns can be singular or plural. They indicate specific person, place, or thing. this, that, these, and those demonstrative pronouns), (interrogative pronouns, as the name suggests, are used when asking questions. who, whom, which, and whose are interrogative pronouns), (pronouns indefinite does not refer to any particular person, place, or thing. Some indefinite pronouns are other, both, everyone, most, none, and some)<sup>22</sup>.

6) Conjunction

A conjunction is a word that joins words, phrases (groups of words that do not contain subjects or verbs), or clauses (groups of words that contain subjects and verbs). Three conjunctions you probably know are and, but and or<sup>23</sup>.

For example :

- Helen and Mary are close friends.
- The confused cat sped through the door but stopped in the hallway.
- You can memorize the eight parts of speech, or you can struggle throughout the rest of this course.

There are many different types of conjunctions, which we'll discuss in more detail later. Here's a quick overview:

a. Coordinating conjunctions:

If you remember the acronym FANBOYS, you can easily remember all the coordinative conjunctions:

F = for            A = and            N = nor

B = but            O = or            Y = yet            S = so<sup>24</sup>

Here's an example sentence using a coordinating conjunction :

- I like Indah for she is very kind.
- Ikha and Imha go to campus UIN Datokarama Palu.

<sup>24</sup>Ibid.

- He can not see nor hear.
- I want to drink pop ice, but at the same time, I want to drink coffee too.
- Laila should choose where she will spend the holiday, Bali or Korea.
- Dewy didn't study, yet she passed the exam.
- Aan was tired, so he went to bed.

b. Subordinate conjunctions:

These conjunctions connect the adverb clause with the main clause of the sentence. Here are some of the most common subordinating conjunctions:

after	if	until
although	once	when, whenever as	since	where, wherever because	so that	whereas before	though	whether or not even though	unless	while <sup>25</sup>

Here's an example sentence using a subordinating conjunction :

- Putri ate all of the food although she didn't like it.
- My friend has been married since she was fifteen.

c. Correlative conjunctions:

These conjunctions come in pairs:

<sup>25</sup>Ibid.

- both/and
- neither/nor
- not only/but also and
- whether/or<sup>26</sup>.

Here's an example sentence using a correlative conjunction :

- Dian or Dina cooks dinner after work.
- Neither Ikha nor Ima has got a car.
- There was neither food nor drink on the table.

d. Conjunctive adverb

This "hybrid" is an adverb that functions as a conjunction after a semicolon that joins two complete sentences. The semicolon expresses the relationship of two sentences into one, while the subjunctive adverb expresses the logical relationship between the ideas of the two sentences. Some of the most common subjunctive adverbs are words that are often called "transition words" in writing courses:

Accordingly	in conclusion	Nonetheless
Additionally	in contrast	on the contrary
Also	indeed	on the other hand
Consequently	in fact	otherwise
Finally	instead	still

<sup>26</sup>Ibid, 39

Furthermore	likewise	then
Hence	meanwhile	therefore
However	moreover	thus
In addition	nevertheless <sup>27</sup>

Here's an example sentence using a conjunctive adverb :

-I want to study abroad. Therefore, I am learning some foreign languages.

-Fira came to my house; however, I wasn't home yesterday.

7) Preposition

There are various definitions of prepositions given by experts. Preposition is a word that shows the relationship between other words. while according to Altenberg and Robert say that prepositions are usually small words, usually carrying information about direction, place, or time<sup>28</sup>. From this we can conclude that prepositions are words that show the relationship between other words and usually contain information about direction, place or time. For example: in, of, to, at, on, and many more.

8) Interjection

Interjections are words used to express emotion at a low, medium or high level. Interjections are probably the least used part of speech, at least in writing<sup>29</sup>. It is often difficult to determine whether an interjection is part of a sentence or whether it forms a sentence as such. Interjections are a part of speech that is more common in informal speech than in formal writing or speaking. Basically, the function of an interjection is to convey a sudden emotion or emotion. This can be joy, excitement, surprise, or disgust. Cute words like "aw" and "or" are meant to convey emotion in a sudden and interesting way<sup>30</sup>.

3. Techniques of Learning Vocabulary

Learning vocabulary requires an effective approach so that students can understand and remember new vocabulary. The main requirement for learning new vocabulary is to find a list of vocabulary that you want to learn from English materials. students can watch and listen to English movies and English reading. Because reading and watching related to English is one of the factors of information enrichment and can enrich English vocabulary.

There are several techniques that can be used and applied in learning English that can improve students vocabulary<sup>31</sup>.

a) Using objects.

The use of these techniques includes the practical use, visual aids, and illustrations. They can help learners remember vocabulary better because our memory for objects and images is very reliable and visual techniques can serve as cues for remembering words<sup>32</sup>.

<sup>31</sup>Murthy, N. S. R., Techniques for Teaching/Learning Vocabulary: A Brief Journal for Research Scholars and Professionals of English Language Teaching, Issue 19, Vol. 4, (2020).

In addition, the real object technique is suitable for beginners or young learners and when presenting specific vocabulary<sup>33</sup>.

Objects can be used to indicate meaning when the vocabulary consists of specific nouns. Introducing a new word by showing the actual object often helps learners remember the word visually. Classroom objects or those brought into the classroom can be used.

b) Drawing.

This technique can help younger students easily understand and recognize the main points they have learned in class.

c) Contrast

Some words can be easily explained to learners by contrasting them with antonyms, for example the word "good" as opposed to the word "bad". But some words are not. It is almost impossible to resist words whose opposites are categorical. When the word "white" is opposite to the word "black", the word "middle" is "gray". In addition, the verb "to contrast" means to show differences, such as photos that reveal the progress of a person's weight loss by contrasting "before" and "after" photos.

d) Enumeration

An enumeration is a collection of items that is a complete and organized list of all the items in that collection. This technique can be used to present meaning. In other words, this technique is useful when there are words that are difficult to interpret visually. We can say "clothing" and explain it by naming or listing various items. The teacher can list several items of clothing, e.g. shirts, pants skirts, trousers, etc., it will become clear the meaning of the word "clothing".

e) Mime, Expressions and Gestures

"Pantomime or gesture is useful if it emphasizes the importance of gestures and facial expressions when communicating. Basically, it is used not only to show the meaning of words found in reading but also in speaking activities as it mainly emphasizes communication. Many words can be introduced through pantomime, expressions and gestures. For example, adjectives: "sad", "happy"; mime and taking a hat off your head to teach hat and so on.

f) Guess from context

Guessing from context is a technique for dealing with unfamiliar vocabulary.

g) Eliciting

In this technique, students are given a list of words to learn, which is more interesting and extraordinary.

h) Translation

In some conditions translation might be successful for teachers, for example, dealing with incidental vocabulary.

In the content of this research, the technique used is the of using objects with learning through word trip application.

4. Application

Applications can be interpreted as software programs that run on certain systems and are useful for supporting various activities carried out by humans. Beyond the above definition, the word "application" as stated by experts has many meanings.<sup>34</sup> Here are some definitions of applications according to some experts:

- 1) According to Ali Zaki and the Smitdev community, applications are components that are useful as tools for processing data or various other activities such as creating or editing documents and files<sup>35</sup>.
- 2) Yuhefizar explains that an application is a program that is deliberately created and developed to meet user needs in performing a specific task<sup>36</sup>.
- 3) Hengky W. Pramana says that applications are software that is deliberately adapted to meet the needs of various activities or professions, such as business activities, advertising, social services, games, and many other activities carried out by humans<sup>37</sup>.

- 4) According to Dhanta, apps are software developed by computer companies to perform specific tasks, such as Microsoft Word or Microsoft Excel<sup>38</sup>.
- 5) According to Shelly, an application is a set of specialized instructions on a computer designed to perform a specific task<sup>39</sup>.

5. The Nature of Word Trip Application

Word trip is a type of puzzle game combined with a cross-country travel theme in app form. In this game, players are given several letters and they must combine the letters to form valid words by clicking on the first letter and dragging their finger to the next letter on the wheel provided. Word Trip was released on January 29, 2018 and was last updated in June 2023<sup>40</sup>.

The main objective of the Word Trip game is to find all possible words from the given letters. The player must use all the available letters for each level, and there is a list of words that must be found for the player to move on to the next level. The more words that are successfully found, the higher the level that can be reached.

Word Trip provides many different levels and offers a variety of themes and locations. Players will travel through different places around the world as they progress through the levels. Each location has a unique theme, for example famous cities, countries, or popular tourist attractions.

Word Trip is a fun and challenging app for fans of word puzzle games. If you like to challenge yourself in finding words and want to explore different places in the world, then Word Trip can be a great option to use. In addition, there are also additional features such as daily bonuses, rewards, and the ability to compete with other players through high scores.

6. Word Trip's Features

The Word Trip application is a word puzzle game available for mobile devices. Here are some of the main features that the Word Trip app generally has:

- 1) Challenging Word Puzzles: The Word Trip app offers various levels of difficulty in word puzzles. You will be given a number of random letters, and your job is to find all the possible words that can be formed from these letters. The more words you manage to find, the higher your score.
- 2) Thousands of Levels: Word Trip usually offers thousands of different levels. Each level has a unique combination of letters and a different list of words to find. You'll cross different countries and cities in the world as you explore new levels.
- 3) Bonuses and Awards: While playing Word Trip, you can earn bonuses and rewards. For example, you can earn bonus coins if you manage to find certain words or reach certain targets. These coins can be used to buy help if you're having trouble finding words.

- 4) Help and Hints: If you get stuck in a level, Word Trip provides help and hints to help continue the game. players can use collected “coins” or use “unscramble word” to find difficult words.
- 5) Attractive Display: Word Trip apps usually have an attractive and intuitive user interface. Pleasant graphics and smooth animations make the gaming experience more enjoyable.
- 6) Statistics and Rankings: Word Trip often offers statistics that include your playing progress, highest score, and words that have been found. In addition, you can also see your ranking compared to other players in competitive mode.
- 7) Multiplayer Mode: Some versions of Word Trip also provide a multiplayer mode, where you can play against your friends or other players online. You can test your word-finding skills and compete for the highest score.
- 8) Games: This feature contains various kinds of teaching that students can learn to learn English such as learning vocabulary, pronunciation, and word classes.

Word Trip is a fun and challenging app for fans of word puzzle games. If you like to challenge yourself in finding words and want to explore different places in the world, then Word Trip can be a great option to use.

7. Procedures of How to Play Word Trip Application

The procedures of Word Trip application are presented as follows:

First, download and install the Word Trip application on the device to be used such as mobile phones, tablets, laptops. This application can be downloaded via play store, App market, and google. After install, players (students) must click on the icon to start the game. Second, explain the learning objectives that the purpose of using Word Trip can increase vocabulary, practice context understanding, or strengthen language skills. Third, explain how to use the word trip application by explaining its functions, such as how to choose levels or countries, how to form words, and the points that can be obtained. Fourth, provide rules and boundaries for using the Word Trip application to ensure focus on the learning objectives. For example, set time rules, use the app only at certain times, or use the platform only to enrich the understanding of the vocabulary being learned. Fifth, use the platform in groups during class and individually outside of class. Sixth, while students are using the Word Trip application, the teacher monitors and provides guidance to ensure that students stay focused on the learning objectives and do not get caught up in unproductive use during class. Seventh, after students use the application, students are asked to discuss about their experience and ask students to share the new words they found. And finally, evaluate the students' progress using the Word Trip application whether the use of this app has helped the students in improving their vocabulary.

8. Advantages and Disadvantages of Word Trip Application

a. Advantages of Word Trip Application

Here are some of the advantages of the Word Trip game:

- 1) Improves language skills: Word Trip helps improve the player's language skills and vocabulary. By searching for words from the given letters, players will become familiar with new vocabulary and improve their understanding of the words present in the language.
- 2) Challenging and engaging: Word Trip offers difficulty levels that vary from level to level, thus keeping players challenged. The game also generates interest with its interesting travel themes and different locations around the world.
- 3) Trains problem-solving skills: In Word Trip, players have to figure out how to combine the given letters into valid words. This involves problem-solving and verbal intelligence, as well as the ability to see patterns and relationships between letters.
- 4) Trains concentration and thinking speed: Word Trip requires players to concentrate well and think fast in finding words within a certain time limit. This helps to train concentration and improve players' thinking speed.
- 5) Daily bonuses and extra features: Word Trip also offers daily bonuses and additional features, such as prizes and high score competitions.

This adds an element of surprise and additional motivation to keep playing.

Overall, Word Trip is an interesting and rewarding word puzzle game. It's not only fun to play, but it can also help improve language skills, problem solving, concentration and thinking speed.

b. Disadvantages of Word Trip Application

There are some disadvantages that can be found in this application:

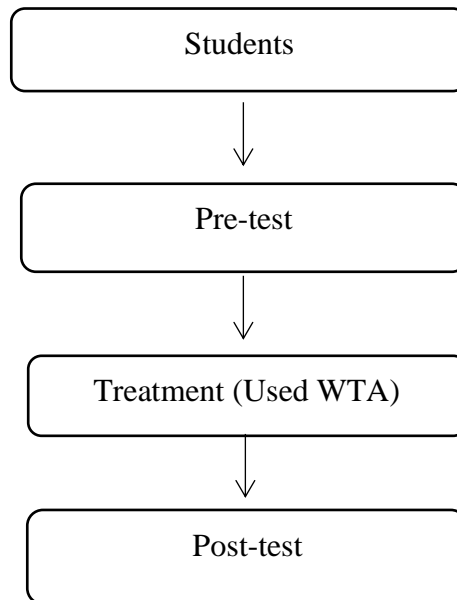

- 1) Dependence on the given vocabulary: In Word Trip, players can only use words that can be formed from the given letters. This means that players are limited to predefined words and do not have the freedom to combine letters freely. This can make the game feel limited in terms of creativity and variety of words that can be used.
- 2) No context or deep meaning: Word Trip focuses more on finding words from the given letters rather than providing context or deeper meaning for the words. This means that players are not always able to relate the words they find to real situations or usage in a wider context.
- 3) No direct social interaction: Word Trip is a game that is played independently on a mobile device. While there is a high score competition feature, there is no direct social interaction with other players. This can detract from the social and collaborative aspects found in multiplayer games or word puzzle games that can be played with friends<sup>41</sup>.

C. Conceptual Framework

Chart 2.1 Conceptual Framework

The conceptual framework of this thesis research is presented as follows: The first node contains selected students as sample for the research. These groups consist of 33 students divided into two classes: Experiment and control groups. The second node represents the pre-tests that gave to the two selected groups. The pre-tests consists of twenty questions. Afterwards, the treatments gave. These treatments contain four meetings where each meeting consists of 45 minutes activities. These treatments are especially provided for experiment class. the final node of the framework contains post-tests. These post-tests was administered to both groups. In addition, the arrows in each node represents the flow of the research.

D. Hypothesis

The hypothesis for the research is formulated as follows:

- a. Alternative Hypothesis ( $H_a$ ): The Word Trip Application is effective to promote vocabulary mastery for students at the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu.
- b. Null Hypothesis ( $H_0$ ): The Word Trip Application is not effective to promote vocabulary mastery for students at the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

A. Approach and Research Design

Research is the process or steps used to collect and analyze information to improve our understanding of a problem or topic.<sup>42</sup> This research used quantitative approach. Creswell defines quantitative research as an investigation of a social or human problem, based on the testing of a theory consisting of variables, measured by numbers, and analyzed by statistical procedures, in order to determine whether the predictive generalizations of the theory hold<sup>43</sup>.

This research used designed to measure the effect to promote vocabulary mastery with Word Trip Application for students at the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu. This research used quasi experiment. A quasi-experiment is an experiment that includes treatment, impact assessment, and experimental units but does not use random assignment. Treatment, impact assessment, and experimental units are use, but random assignment is not use to make comparisons to infer changes brought about by the treatment<sup>44</sup>.

B. Population and Sample

1) Population

Creswell states that population is a group of individuals who had the same characteristic<sup>45</sup>. As for the population in this research are the eleventh grade students SMAN 4 Palu which consists of seventh classes with the population was 232 students.

Table 3.1 Classification Score of Students

No	Class	Number of Class
1.	XI A	28
2.	XI B	35
3.	XI C	36
4.	XI D	36
5	XI E	33
6.	XI F	31
7.	XI G	33
Total		232

2) Sample

<sup>45</sup>John W. Creswell, Educational Research: Planning, Conducting, and Evaluating Quantitative and Qualitative Research (University of Nebraska: Lincoln, 2012). 142

Sample according to Creswell are subgroups of the population that are considered to represent the population through selection in certain way. So that population is an object that has certain qualities and characteristics that are applied by research to study and draw conclusions<sup>46</sup>.

In this research used purposive sampling where the samples was selected based on pre-observation result and based on recommendations from the English teacher at SMA Negeri 4 Palu. There are seventh classes in eleventh grade, in this case the researcher chose two classes, namely the experimental and control class. Class E as the experimental class and class G as the control class.

C. Research Variables

Research variable is anything in any form determined by the researcher to be in order to obtain information about this, then conclusions are drawn<sup>47</sup>. Variables of this research consisted of independent and dependent variable. Independent variable are variables that affect or cause changes in the appearance of the dependent variable<sup>48</sup>. The independent variable is Word Trip application. The dependent variable is the variable that affects or is the result of the independent variable<sup>49</sup>. The dependent variable is English vocabulary mastery.

D. Operational Definition

The operational definition aims to create concepts operationally leads to the preparation of research instruments, through Word Trip application to improve English vocabulary mastery.

1) Promoting

Promoting is an action or effort to introduce something to students with the aim of increasing awareness, interest, and participation in products, services, and ideas. In this case aims to promote word trip applications as learning media in the classroom.

2) Vocabulary

Vocabulary is a collection of words owned or understood by a person in the language used to communicate. This research was focus on verbs and adjectives.

3) Word Trip Application

The Word Trip app is a word puzzle game available for mobile devices such as smartphones and tablets. In this game, players used given a number of letters and the task is to find words that can be formed from these letters.

The more words that are found, the higher the score will be.

E. Research Instrument

Arikunto said, "Research instruments are tools or devices used by a researcher to collect information to facilitate work and produce better results, in the sense that they are more precise and more systematic. So that it is easy to manage”<sup>50</sup>. This instrument used to find out an increase in students' vocabulary mastery using the Word Trip Application is tests. The test form of vocabulary tests was the multiple choice 20 questions for pre-test and post-test. A pre-test was conducted to find out the initial achievement of student's English words before using Word Trip Application while a post-test was conducted to find out the increase in student's vocabulary after the treatment to gave.

F. Techniques of Data Collection

In this research used test measure students' vocabulary skills. There was two stages of the test, the first was given the pre-test and the second will be the post-test.

1) Pre-test

The pre-test gave by the researcher to students before the treatment. The pre-test aims to determine the students' vocabulary mastery skills before getting treatment.

2) Treatment

Treatment In this research design, the researcher used one class as the sample. Before doing the treatment, firstly the researcher gave a pretest to students. After giving the pretest, the researcher gave a treatment to the student for four meetings.

3) Post test

Post-test gave after the experimental classes was receive treatment. The purpose of this test was find out the student' mastery of the word classes after the experiment received treatment.

G. Technique of Data Analysis

This research used pre-test and post-test to determine how effective a application is in learning. The analysis of the research results is based on t-test analysis. The researcher used SPSS software version 27 for windows to analyze the data. Several analyses were conducted, including descriptive analysis, normality test, homogeneity test, and testing hypothesis is used paired sample t-test. The researcher used t-test statistics or t-count against t-table to determine how effective the word trip application is in vocabulary learning.

Following are some steps of research data analysis using SPSS 27:

1) Descriptive Statistics

Descriptive statistics are statistics that the level of work includes ways of collecting, arranging, or organize, process, present and analyze numerical data, in order to be able to provide an orderly, concise and clear description of something symptom, event, or state<sup>51</sup>. In this case, researcher used SPSS 27 to describe the mean, minimum, maximum and standard deviation values obtained from the pre-test and post- test in the experiment classes and control classes. And to find out data on students learning outcomes (tests) is also done using descriptive statistics. Students scores on the following criteria in the book written by Suharsimi Arikunto are modified as follows :

Table 3.2 The Classification of the Students Score

No	Score	Classification
1	80 - 100	Very Good
2	66 – 79	Good
3	56 – 65	Fair
4	40 55	Poor
5	< 39	Very poor <sup>52</sup>

The purpose of the evaluate is to obtain conclusive data that shows the level of competency in achieving learning goals. Apart from that, it can be used to measure the effectiveness of teaching and learning activities with the methods used.

2) Normality Test

Normality test is a test to measure whether the data being tested has a normal distribution so that can be used in parametric statistics. You can use this test Kolmogorov-Smirnov and declared to be normally distributed

if the significance is greater than 0.05. The data normality test is a form of testing regarding the normality of data distribution. The purpose of this test is to find out whether the data taken is distributed data normal or not. What is meant by normally distributed is that the data was follow a certain shape normal distribution in which data is loaded on the mean and median values<sup>53</sup>.

In this research, a normality test was carried out using the SPSS 27 application to find out whether the research data given have a normal distribution or not. Normal data is very important before performing paired sample t-test and independent sample t-test.

3) Homogeneity Test

Homogeneity test is a variant test used to determine whether the variants of the two sample groups are the same or the not. Homogeneity test is carried out as a requirement carrying out a t-test (hypothesis). Homogeneity test is carried out by compare the pre- and post test using SPSS 27 version. Criteria homogeneity testing is if the sig result is  $> 0.05$  the the data is homogeneous and if the sig value  $< 0.05$  then the data is not homogeneous<sup>54</sup>.

4) Testing Hypothesis

Hypothesis is a temporary answer towards the formulation of the research problem. It said temporary because the answer given is just based on based on theory and not using facts. Therefore, every research conducted has a hypothesis or temporary answers to future research done. Based on this hypothesis, research was carried out further to prove what this hypothesis is true or not<sup>55</sup>.

The purpose of this hypothesis test is to determine the t-test value in the experimental class. Statistical tests are used to test whether or not an alternative hypothesis is accepted by stating that there are significant differences between two samples. In this case the research used the SPSS application to carry out the paired sample t-test.

Paired sample t-test is a test of the difference between two paired samples. Paired samples come from the same subject but receive difference treatment. The paired sample t-test is also one of the parametric statistical methods, so it must meet the assumption that the data is normally distributed<sup>56</sup>. By using the paired sample t-test, researchers know the difference in student learning outcomes in the experimental class (using the word trip application) and the control class (using conventional methods).

CHAPTER IV
RESEARCH FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

A. Findings of the Research

The researcher analyzes and presents information obtained through data collection techniques, namely. tests, before and after tests. The data that the author analyzes is obtained from the experimental class and the control class. The test results are compared to find out whether the use of Word Trip Application affects students' vocabulary mastery.

1. Result Pre Test and Post Test of the Experiment class

Before being given treatment in the experimental class, the researcher gave a pre-test to measure the extent of students' vocabulary mastery. After being given treatment using the Word Trip Application, the researcher gave a post-test to measure whether there was an increase in students' vocabulary mastery.

Based on the pre-test and post-test given, the researcher calculated the score of the results which can be seen in the following table.

Table 4.1

3. Descriptive Statistics

In the content of the research, descriptive statistics is useful for describing the research data derived from the score of pre- and post-tests of both experimental and control classes. These included the number of students, mean, standard deviation, standard error of mean. The following were the descriptive analysis of results of the experimental and control classes.

Table 4.5

Group Statistics

	Kelas	N	Mean	Std. Deviation	Std. Error Mean
Hasil	Kelas Experiment	33	64.09	13.776	2.398
	Kelas Control	33	46.67	11.837	2.060

The table showed that the mean values of the experimental class was 64.09, meaning that the mean value  $>$  (was higher than) control class. Meanwhile, the mean value of the control class was 46.67, this suggested that the mean value is  $<$  (was lower than) the experimental class.

4. Normality Tests

In terms of the normality test the characteristics of the samples selected were made important. This was to ensure that the samples of both classes were similar these the tests were given would result the data that was normal in the content of quantitative research.

The normality test was calculated to prove whether the population was normally distributed or not. This calculation used the Kolmogorov-Smirnov test. The decision was taken if the significance value was greater than 0.05 which showed the data was declared normal. The results of the normality test was presented the table below:

The Result of The Normality Test Analysis

	Statistic	df	Sig.	Statistic	df	Sig.
Hasil	Pre Test Experiment	.152	33	.052	.956	33	.199
	Post Test Experiment	.181	33	.008	.942	33	.080
	Pre Test Control	.182	33	.007	.934	33	.045
	Post Test Control	.132	33	.157	.972	33	.534

Based on the out put table of SPSS, it can be seen that the value of sig significant post-test class experiment stood at  $0.008 > 0.05$  and the value of sig significant post-test of the control class was  $0.157 > 0.05$ . Based on the basic decision making in Kolmogorov-Smirnov normality test it was concluded that the data was normal.

5. Homogeneity Test

Test of Homogeneity of Variance

		Levene Statistic	df1	df2	Sig.
Hasil	Based on Mean	1.114	1	64	.295
	Based on Median	.653	1	64	.422
	Based on Median and with adjusted df	.653	1	59.508	.422
	Based on trimmed mean	.930	1	64	.338

Based on the table SPSS out table, it can be seen that the significant sig value was  $0,295 > 0.05$ . Based on the basic of decision making on the Levene statistic homogeneity test, it was concluded that the data was homogeneity.

Pair	Pre Test -	-25.45455	14.10694	2.45570	-30.45665	-	-	32	.000
1	Post Test					20.45244	10.365

The paired sample t-test is a hypothesis test to find out whether the Word Trip Application (WTA) is effective in teaching vocabulary. Based on the table, it is known that the t-test or t-count is -10.365. the t-test is negative because the average value of the pre-test learning outcomes is lower than the average post-test learning outcomes. In the context like this, a negative t-test value can be positive, means the t-test value becomes 10.365 with significant value is 0.000. If the significant values (2-tailed)  $> 0.05$ , then  $H_0$  accepted and  $H_a$  is rejected. Based on the paired sample t-tets output table, it is known that the sig. (2-tailed) was  $0.000 < 0.05$ , means  $H_0$  is rejected and  $H_a$  is accepted.

Apart form comparing the significant value with a probability of 0.05, the researcher wants to test the hypothesis by comparing the t-test with the t-table. If the  $t\text{-test} > t\text{-table}$ , then  $H_0$  is rejected and  $H_a$  is accepted. Conversely, if the  $t\text{-test} < t\text{-table}$ , then  $H_0$  is accepted and  $H_a$  is rejected. The t-test value in the table, is 10.365. to find out the t-table value based on the degree of freedom (df) and significant ( $0.05/2$ ). From the table, it is known that the df value is 32 and the significant value is  $0.05/2$  which is equal to 0.025. then it find the t-table is 2.03693. thus, since the  $t\text{-test} > t\text{-table}$  ( $10.365 > 2.03693$ ), it can be concluded that  $H_0$  is rejected and  $H_a$  is accepted. That means the WTA is effective to promote vocabulary mastery at the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu.

B. Discussion

Based on the research findings, it showed that the Word Trip Application (WTA) was effective to improve vocabulary mastery of the eleventh grade students. As the research as aimed to find out whether the WTA is effective to improve the vocabulary mastery of the students grade, it focused measure the research questions regarding this matter.

The results of the hypothesis testing showed that. The experimental class treated with the Word Trip Application experienced a marked improvement in the learning outcomes compared to the control class. While the control class experienced a smaller increase than the experimental class, it can be said that the Word Trip Application has significant effect on students' vocabulary mastery.

The statistical analysis of the post-test scores in the experimental class, students obtained the highest score was 85 and the lowest score was 45. From the result of statistical calculations obtained Mean (M) 64.09. Median (Me) 40.00. Standard Deviation (Sd) 14.267. while the post-test of the control class showed the highest score achieved by students was 50 and the lowest was 20. From the result of statistical calculations obtained Mean (M) 46.67. Median (Me) 45.00. Standard Deviation (Sd) 11.837.

The output results of the normality test showed the same value both with the value of significant post-test of the experimental class  $0.008 > 0.05$  and the value of sig significant post-test of the control class was  $0.157 > 0.05$ . So based on the decision-making data on the Kolmogorov-Smirnov normality test, it can be seen that the data is normally distributed.

Reflecting in the results of the statistical calculation of the data, it was evident that the WTA was proved to be effective in promoting the vocabulary mastery of the students selected. It was identified that students vocabulary mastery in terms of the use of verb had significantly improved. This is in line with the research of Nuryati in the context of SMAN Muhammadiyah Makassar. However, the use of Word Cross game in the previous research the increase of the word noun instead of vocabulary. Apart from that, this research also revealed the increase of students mastery in the use of adverbs and adjectives since these two words were found to increase up to 41,75 to 59 % respectively.

BAB V

CONCLUSION

A. Conclusion

Based on the results of the data presented, it shows that there is a significant effect on the WTA was proved to be effective to promote vocabulary mastery for the students of the eleventh grade of SMA Negeri 4 Palu. Where  $t_{\text{counted}}$  results was 10.365 while the  $t_{\text{table}}$  2.03693 was lower than the  $t_{\text{counted}}$ .

B. Implication

In favor of increase the English teaching quality, the research would like to give so suggestion as follows :

1. The teacher needs to be creative in finding and applying appropriate techniques to teach vocabulary in order to finally facilitate and help the Students to improve better English vocabulary ability.
2. The research implies that the Word Trip Application is effective to improve the vocabulary mastery of students if the characteristics of the sample selected is similar the that of the sample of the current research.

H. Learning Material

The Almost Perfect Country

Racism, poverty, traffic, pollution.

In the world there are so many countries with problems. It seems like every country and every person is filled with problems. So who has the solutions?

To answer that question I decided to put my pride aside and go learn from a country that has the same problems as all of us, but has managed to find solutions!! Because this is the incredible story of the almost perfect country of SINGAPORE.

In Singapore many races live. The Indians, the Malay, Chinese, and Eurasians. And because people of different races might disagree and hate each other Singapore forced all of them to live together in buildings on top of each other next to each other.

So instead of enemies they are neighbors and because of this Singapore built a racial harmony that many, many countries don't have. Yes!!

Traffic, many countries also suffer from traffic. It's the worst!.

In Singapore they had traffic until they fixed it! In Singapore they limited the number of cars on the road. The number of cars, total in the entire country CAN NOT INCREASE. Many people instead of cars take public transportation and very few people are stuck in traffic! YES

Pollution is another environmental problem. Landfills look and smell disgusting in many, many countries but in Singapore they do not. Because they take their trash, they burn it filter out the smoke collect the ashes and dump them under water in a man made island. Instead of this, the island looks like this! Their trash island is so clean it looks like a resort!.

Question No 6 – 7!

Dear Nancy

We are having a great holiday here on the Gold Coast. Yesterday we went to the movie World. When we got up in the morning, it looked like rain, but then it became sunny.

The first ride I went on was Lethal Weapon. Next I saw the Police Academy show. After that I had lunch as I was really hungry. Meanwhile, my mom and Kelly queued for the Batman ride. It was really fun day. See you when you get back.

Love,

Sam
